From: Route Fifty Today
To: Joe Bianco
Subject: Amid shutdown fight, county leader seeks to stop sewage spills along the border
Date: Friday, January 11, 2019 4:02:56 AM

Problems viewing? View as a web page

Connecting state and local government leaders

Route Fifty Today January 11, 2019

County Leader Seeks to Stop Sewage Spills Along Border Amid Shutdown Fight

County Leader Seeks to Stop Sewage Spills Along Border Amid Shutdown Fight

BILL LUCIA | With tensions high over a wall, a San Diego County supervisor is focused on funding for waterworks.

Paying the Homeless to Clean Up City Parks

MICHAEL GRASS | STATE AND LOCAL ROUNDUP | Civil asset forfeiture reform bills … New Orleans short-term rental restrictions … and Oregon roadkill consumption rules.

A Prolonged Shutdown Will Hit Counties With Tight Cash Flows Hardest

DAVE NYCZEPIR | From wildfire prevention efforts to farm loans to mass transit, here are the latest potential casualties of a long-term funding hiatus.

Brought to you by ServiceNow

How Your Government Agency Can Increase Productivity, Visibility, Security— and Reduce Costs

There is a tremendous amount of pressure on IT staff in government agencies to do "more with less," adopt digital transformation, and develop innovative ideas. Unfortunately, there are an array of strategic issues and challenges that are creating delays and bottlenecks. ServiceNow is changing the way government agencies work by expediting and automating the delivery of modern services, while driving down costs. Privacy Policy.

Download Now

Medicaid 'Buy-In' Could Be a New Health Care Option for the Uninsured

MICHAEL OLLOVE | "We think 2019 is going to be the year of Medicaid buy-in," one health care advocate said.

A Different Kind of Housing Crisis

DEREK THOMPSON | THE ATLANTIC | ANALYSIS | Many of the Trump administration's most famous policies are impediments to affordable construction.

How a Government Shutdown Affects the Economy

SCOTT R. BAKER | THE CONVERSATION | Withholding pay from even some government workers could introduce a significant economic speed bump in the short run.

Survey: Americans Mostly Unfazed by Facial Recognition Tech

DAVE NYCZEPIR | Most people oppose strict regulations on the technology, particularly if they'll hinder local law enforcement's ability to catch suspects, a new survey found.

Explore Route Fifty's 2018 Newsmap

MICHAEL GRASS | From Akron, Ohio, to Yavapai County, Arizona, and countless other places, navigate the year in state and local government news from around the nation.

Brought to you by ServiceNow

How Your Government Agency Can Increase Productivity, Visibility, Security— and Reduce Costs

There is a tremendous amount of pressure on IT staff in government agencies to do “more with less,” adopt digital transformation, and develop innovative ideas. Unfortunately, there are an array of strategic issues and challenges that are creating delays and bottlenecks. ServiceNow is changing the way government agencies work by expediting and automating the delivery of modern services, while driving down costs. Privacy Policy.

Download Now

This message was sent from Route Fifty to jbianco@bakersfieldpd.us. You have been sent Route Fifty Today because you have opted in to receive it. Note: It may take our system up to two business days to process your unsubscribe request and during that time you may receive one or two more newsletters. Thank you for reading Route Fifty Today.

Government Executive Media Group, 600 New Hampshire Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20037